WRANGELL, ALASKA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1919

PRICE TEN CENTS

Cable News

NEW YORK—In the Chicago and Pittsburg districts steel works are still in operation with the issue still in doubt. Elsewhere throughout the country the steel strike is a success, the tie-up being complete.

BUFFALO—The State Constabulary and the striking steel workers clashed here today when the latter ignored a command to disperse. The strikers responded with a volley of stones. The troopers then charged, wielding their clubs. Many strikers sought refuge in saloons, but were chased out.

CLEVELAND—Four men were stabbed, two fatally, and others badly beaten at the entrance of the American Steel and Wire company this morning when a street car stopped and let off men for work at the mills.

CHICAGO—Eight men were so badly beaten that they were taken to the hospital when striking steel workers at Indiana harbor attacked 25 men who had remained at work.

SALT LAKE CITY—President Wilson made a fighting speech here in reply to the Senate opposition to the treaty. When he had completed his reading of the text of the proposed reservation the audience of 14,000 in the Mormon tabernacle applauded. "Wait a minute," he cried. "If you have a knife and want to cut out the heart of the covenant, applaud." Silence followed this remark. "This is a rejection of the covenant," he continued. "It is an absolute refusal," he went on in the face of diminished handclapping. "Does the United States want to be put in that position?" he asked, and this time the audience gave forth a resounding "No."

SEATTLE—The City of Seattle sailed at noon today. Wrangell passengers are: Geo. C. Stump, John A. Roth, M. P. Roth.

BERLIN—In an encounter at Staarbrucken between German bourgeoisie and French soldiers many were wounded on both sides.

PETROGRAD—"It is not in Finland or Esthonia that the immense world combat against capitalists can be fought, but in America and England, and above all, in the far east," Trotsky declared in a speech here today.

SAN FRANCISCO—Ralph Boyker, a Seattle hotel man and former Klondike and Alaska operator, Dan W. Edwards, former agent of the Department of Justice, and four others, were indicted by the Federal Grand Jury for attempting to smuggle whiskey into Seattle from San Francisco.

POLA—Four Italian warships, battleships Dante and Alighieri, and destroyers Mirabello Nullo and Abba are named as units of the "Fiumian Navy" in the proclamation of D'Annunzio and distributed here.

SEATTLE—Motorcycle Patrolman Edward Wilson was instantly killed this morning when his machine skidded into a telegraph pole.

WASHINGTON—Not a shred of it would be left, Senator Hiram Johnson of California, declared today, if the vote on the treaty was delayed two months.

A. B. Will Give First Lodge Social of Season

There is every indication that Camp Wrangell No. 28, Arctic Brotherhood, will have a most enjoyable fall and winter season. At the meeting last night four candidates were elected. At the next meeting officers will be elected. The first lodge social of the fall season will be given by the Camp on the evening of Wednesday, October 8.

Oscar Wickstrom, Sec.

The first meeting for community singing at the school house Wednesday evening was very enjoyable and well attended. Mrs. McLaughlin is the leader. An invitation is extended to all who are interested in singing to be present. The sings will be held every week, on Wednesday evenings at 7:20.

Mrs. A. Lemieux and her sons, Louis and Ned are leaving tonight on the Princess Mary for the south. They intend to be gone three or four months and during that time will visit at Ottawa, Canada and various points in the States.

Carl Dyrandall is confined to his bed as the result of a fall from a pile of lumber at the mill yesterday.

SEATTLE—"But the real question of the Far East and one fraught with serious political and military difficulties, is the situation in Siberia. Within the next few weeks, possibly days, this will loom large. There are 7,500 American troops in Siberia and 50,000 Japanese. Shantung will be a small issue compared to the imperialistic intrigue, as dominated by the Japanese military party now being played in Siberia. B. W. Fleisher, owner of the Japanese Advertiser, the leading paper of the Far East, now in Seattle, declared today.

West Coast Has Record Breaking Season This Year

CRAIG—All records were broken this year on the West Coast of Prince of Wales island. The Klawock cannery had a pack of 73,000 cases, and besides distributed about 280,000 fish to other canneries. The companies who only used seines got the most fish. With the custom's office a certainty and the Standard Oil station assured Craig becomes the permanent center of industry on the West Coast.

Wrangell Labor Union Will Elect Delegates to Territorial Convention On Saturday Night

At the meeting of Alaska Labor Union No. 10 to be held Saturday night delegates will be elected to the first territorial convention of the Alaska Labor Union, which will convene in Juneau October 10.

At present there is no territorial organization of the Union. The first chapter was organized at Anchorage three years ago, and that local has taken the lead in the affairs of the union. As more were organized in all parts of Alaska the need for a territorial organization became more apparent.

At the Juneau convention at which representatives of all of the organizations will meet together, a general set of officers will be elected. Their headquarters will probably be at Juneau, on account of its central location.

The officers of the Wrangell local are particularly desirous that there be as large an attendance as possible Saturday night in order that all may have a voice in the selection of delegates. In another column is published an official notice from the secretary urging a full attendance.

Lemieux Returns From Trip to Old Quebec

A. Lemieux returned on the Princess Mary Tuesday morning from a four months' trip to his old home in Quebec. This was the first time Mr. Lemieux had been east in over 20 years. He says he had an enjoyable trip, but that old Quebec has changed so much in the past 20 years that he hardly knew the country.

Red Shield Home Service Campaign

Of the Salvation Army Begins Next Monday

The Salvation Army has ever been a great reconstruction force. Broken things have ever been held in its heart and cared for by its hand. Remnants in life's struggle have been prized and remade in wondrous fashion.

Experience has equipped it for the work of this hour. It has ministered to the troops in a way which has called forth the unqualified confidence and affection of our Armies.

At the present time we have 87 huts, hostels, rest and recreation rooms, for the benefit of the returned soldiers. These are spread from coast to coast and are supplemented by a very efficient railway canteen service.

The Army came into being for the purpose of reconstructing broken lives, and has carried on its work with phenomenal success. Look at this record of service for reconstructing humanity.

Its rescue work for fallen girls and outcasts of our cities, shows that 85 per cent of the cases that come under the Army's care have turned out well. Prison work has brought about the reconstruction of thousands of the criminal classes. Redeemed lives testify to this fact. Poor Relief work has reconstructed the prosperity of a great number of families. Inebriate Homes, Children's Homes, Maternity Hospitals, and countless other agencies have been working reconstructing and reconstructing maimed humanity, the world over. The Army is equally efficient to apply its splendid agencies to the task of reconstruction today. Let every one help the "Red Shield Home Service Campaign." Wrangell's campaign week, Sept. 29th to Oct. 6th.

Says There Is Too Much Elective in School Work

(Communicated)

The first object in school is to get knowledge to use in the world. The second object which is far greater, is to sharpen the intellect. These days of too much elective in school work make it possible for the student to go through school, and with a clever choice of easy subjects, to practically get nothing out of the high school. The intellect is not sharpened because the easy subjects are chosen. The student who does this had better not go to work. A student should not fool himself. The School Board appeals to each student to get the most out of the school life. Choose the things that make you think until it hurts, and your school will amount to something. The School Board.

Banker Kills Two Bear

Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Struble of Frederickton, Ohio, returned the first of the week from a three weeks' hunting trip on the Stikine in company with Captain A. B. Conover. They spent much time moving up and down the river in a canoe, and had a most enjoyable outing. Incidentally two black bears were killed. They report the mountains along the Stikine are beautiful now with a covering of fresh snow extending down to the timber line. Mr. and Mrs. Struble left on the Jefferson Monday for Juneau where they will visit for a few days before returning east. Mr. Struble hunted in the Cassiar last year. He is a banker.

Judge Thomas Is Again U. S. Commissioner

On Tuesday morning Judge William G. Thomas became United States Commissioner at Wrangell, succeeding C. E. Weber, resigned.

Judge Thomas was formerly Commissioner and held the office eleven years prior to his resignation two years ago. It seems quite natural to see him back in his old position.

Mr. Weber, in addition to his duties as an officer of the Department of Justice, rendered the country a most important patriotic service during the war. He represented the Provost Marshal General in this district as registration officer, and during each of the three drafts attended to registering the names (together with all the particulars) of all persons in the Wrangell district who were liable for military service under the different drafts. Although this work required considerable time and patience it was performed by Mr. Weber without one penny of remuneration.

Night School

Arrangements have been made for the night school to open November 1. Mr. Mitchell will have charge. The sessions will be held in the High School room. It will be open not only for those who are preparing for citizenship but for any of our young people who are compelled to work during the day and wish instruction at night. The Government furnishes the salary of the teacher, but there will be a charge of $1 a month, payable in advance, for lights, fuel and janitor. At the end of each month a report of the expenditures will be read and at the end of the term (four months) all unused sums will be returned pro rata. School Board.

Dr. Courtland and party of six big game hunters who have been hunting moose, mountain sheep and other animals to be found in the haunts of the Kenai peninsula, passed through Ketchikan last night. They reported that the trip was a big success and they are taking some excellent specimens out with them. The trophies will be presented to the University of Kansas.—Chronicle.

Jack Clausson Married

A resident of Wrangell this week received a letter from Jack Clausson in which he stated that he was recently married. He failed to give such little details as who, where, when and why. For some time past Mr. Clausson has been connected with the Juneau Cold Storage.

G. S. Chapin, superintendent for the Karheen Packing company, is in Wrangell this week and hopes to leave for the South on the Princess Mary tonight. Mr. Chapin reports that under the circumstances he is fully satisfied with his pack.

The Lure of Moca

By Osborn Jones

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Among the students—and the faculty, too, for that matter—Professor Gray had the reputation of being the best-looking professor at Morton and the most confirmed old bachelor. On the score of his old-bachelorhood—though he was not past redemption at forty—they excused various little quirks and quirks in his disposition. Not only was Professor Gray the head of the Greek department of the college but, as son of one of the leading benefactors of the college, he was one of the trustees as well. It was as a trustee that his objection on general principals to domestic science and household arts, as part of a college curriculum had thus far successfully blocked the building of the new domestic science extension. The money had been raised for the building, but because the site was part of the original Gray bequest, Professor Gray's objection made progress on the building impossible.

No wonder, then, that Jean Prescott, the attractive young head of such household arts department as there was at Morton, was filled with a sentiment toward Professor Gray that was as near to that of hatred as any that had ever entered into her spacious heart. Like most household arts instructors, Jean Prescott carried into her classes and laboratory an air of rare gentility. Professor Gray seldom carried much gentility into his Greek classes and perhaps that was the fault of his boarding-house keeper, for Gray had got to the point where having tasteless coffee and cold fried eggs for breakfast was getting on his nerves.

If he took real satisfaction in anything, however, it was that so far the department of domestic science had been limited to Jean Prescott and that she had but two rooms—one for a lecture room and another for a laboratory—"merely a glorified kitchen" Jean told her students—in a semibasement section of one of the college buildings.

One day Professor Gray was correcting test papers in his private office beside an open window that let in a flood of sunshiny air that warmed, rather than chilled, the room. At first he sniffed subconsciously and then he dropped his fountain pen on his desk, laid down the test book and sniffed definitely. His thoughts took the form of "My, but that smells like good coffee." He tried to go back to work when something that smelled like the crisp browned edges of corn cakes baked to a turn—an aroma redolent with recollections of his youth and cheerful thoughts of a Southern mammy—tempted him again. He took in long draughts of the fragrance and then, rising, followed it to the window whence it entered his room. He looked down as if expecting to see a table set with coffee and corn cake in the court below, but he saw nothing save the wall of the building and numerous windows.

After that Gray made it a point to linger in his office every afternoon at about that time and he never failed to leave the window open even when the air became chill. Sometimes there came the fragrance of broiling bacon, sometimes the luscious odor of boiling sugar and chocolate. Once it was the mingled fragrance of beef and onions and carrots that spelled in his mind the kind of stew the old Southern mammy used to make.

Then one day when the smell had proved too tantalizing Professor Gray walked stealthily downstairs to the semibasement section of the building and, following the luscious flavors that now positively smote him with their vividness, he came upon an open door from whence issued the sounds of feminine voices and the occasional clatter of tins and crockery. It was Jean Prescott's domestic science laboratory and a laboratory session was in progress. Afraid of being observed, he walked slowly away and, as he walked through the end of the corridor, his eyes caught sight of a little card tacked up on a bulletin board.

"For sale for the benefit of the Red Cross," read the sign. "Products of the cookery laboratory will be an sale in Miss Prescott's office from 5 to 5:15 every afternoon."

Professor Gray made an excuse to himself to remain in his office until late that afternoon and at just 4:50 he slipped down to Miss Prescott's office and, with a mumbled sort of remark about wanting to help the Red Cross, he spent a dollar on dainties that had been made under Jean's careful direction. It was then that he first really looked into the new instructor's face and he admitted to himself that there was more good cheer and vivacity in it than in the faces of the other woman instructors. "Perhaps cookery has a better effect on women," he reflected, "than calculus or quadratics or the Iliad or the Odyssey."

Then one day Jean and her first class in cookery gave a luncheon for certain chosen members of the faculty and, strangely enough, Jean had the temerity to invite as guest of honor the man who was the most confirmed old bachelor in the faculty. He did especial honor to the feast and went away wondering why it would not be feasible for some person of wealth to endow a special domestic science school for boarding-house keepers, with a scholarship for his own remiss landlady.

That evening, instead of donning his dressing gown and reading in the aura of his student lamp, or sallying forth to play chess with some bachelor cronies of his he took a half hour adding fine points to his toilet and sallied forth in the direction of the girl's dormitory. Could it be that he went to see Jean Prescott who made her home there?

The next day Professor Gray went to his safe deposit to take out of their dark hiding place some fine old gems of his mother's and later he was seen in the inner offices of one of the leading jewelers. On his way back to his boarding house he stopped before several furniture-store windows and actually went into one fine furniture shop to price a replica of an old mahogany dining room set he had seen displayed.

He stopped at a florist shop when he neared home and ordered some orchids, though in his confusion at doing anything so unusual for him, he forgot to leave his card to be inclosed in them. But the one who received them guessed the sender without a card.

A few weeks later there was an important meeting of the trustees of the college, called specially by the president to discuss pressing business. All were present save Professor Gray, who sent his proxy. The most important announcement to be made was that the absent trustee had withdrawn his objection against building the domestic science extension on the old Gray property. It was also casually remarked among those trustees who were most intimate with the details of the university administration that the president was looking for a new head of the domestic science department. Miss Prescott would not return the next autumn. She was to be married. "However," commented the trustee, "other good instructors can be found. The important thing is to have removed Gray's objection. I wonder who persuaded him to give in?"

MADE NOTES OF HER ORDERS

Absent-Minded Beggar Even Promised to Think of Wife Every Day While Absent.

The absent-minded beggar, booked for a two weeks' visit to his rich aunt, stood upon the doorstep receiving his wife's final instructions.

"Now, James," she said, "do please remember to put on your tie should you be called on to wear evening dress. Last time you went, you remember, you went down without it."

"I'll make a note of it," said the forgetful one.

"Also," continued the wife, "remember that Aunt Tabitha's brother Bill is a sore point with all of them. Don't mention him!"

"I'll put that down, too!" murmured the husband.

"Then, too, dear, do be careful about getting in draughts. You caught an awful cold last time."

"I'll try to remember," he returned. She imparted a farewell kiss upon his brow.

"I hope, dear," she said, a catch in her voice, "you'll think of me every day while you're gone."

"Yes, dear, I will," responded the hubby absently. "I'll make a memorandum of it."

Flying Fish.

Off southern California, tourists sometimes find themselves surrounded by swarms of flying fish, which spring out of the sea and soar like birds, says the American Boy. Their species is Exocoetus Californicus. The fish attains a length of 18 inches, and a weight of more than a pound. The natural hydroplanes live in schools. The aviation is made possible by the propeller-like motion of the powerful tail and by fins which spread out rigid like monoplane wings. The flights are very swift and sometimes a quarter of a mile long.

God Gave You Health. Thank Him For It. Go to Church.

OME people never think of God until a loved one is ill or a great trouble besets them. Then they seek the SOLACE OF RELIGION. A clergyman is called in, and prayers are said at the bedside for the loved one's recovery. God is MERCIFUL, and oftentimes these prayers are answered, and the loved one recovers.

IT IS NOT FAIR TO GOD, HOWEVER, TO ASK HIM TO REMEMBER YOU WHEN YOU HAVE FORGOTTEN HIM. WHEN EVERYTHING IS GOING ALONG SMOOTHLY AND THE WORLD LOOKS BRIGHT SOME MEN FORGET THERE IS A GOD. THEY NEVER GO TO CHURCH. WHILE THEY WILL RESENT THE CHARGE THAT THEY WOULD OPENLY OFFEND GOD, THEY OFFEND HIM DEEPLY BY NOT GOING TO CHURCH. THE SUCCESSFUL MAN SHOULD GO TO CHURCH TO THANK GOD FOR HIS WORLDLY GIFTS. THE SUPREME BEING GAVE HIM ALL HE HAS—LIFE, HEALTH, HAPPINESS—AND HE SHOULD THANK HIM FOR THEM.

Thanks to the GO TO CHURCH movement, there has been a religious awakening over the land. RELIGION NEVER WAS DEAD. All that it required was a stimulus, and that stimulus was provided by the GO TO CHURCH campaign. It should not be necessary to urge men to GO TO CHURCH. There isn't an argument that can be advanced by any man who believes in God in favor of staying away from church. Take away the churches and you will have a condition bordering on anarchy.

The man who GOES TO CHURCH is prepared to MEET ANY CRISIS, moral, physical or financial. His faith in a Supreme Being sustains him in the most severe trials.

Sawyer Again Flayed by Juneau Paper

Says There Are Too Many of These Uncertified Citizens Around Taking Liberties With the Rights of American Citizens.

Calls On This "Curly-Headed God of the New Freedom" to Tell Where He Was During the War.

Article States that Sawyer Says He Came to Juneau to "Take Over" Alaska Labor Union No. 4, and Adds That There Were Just Enough Jelly Fish in That Body to Let Him Do It.

[The Gleam]

There are in Juneau a few men who, in the opinion of The Gleam, are a menace to the community. The name of one is Sawyer. We do not know his first name, but have heard him talk and have talked to him. He says that there was never any reform in this country until 14 years ago when an organization (we presume that he meant the I. W. W.) started in to get the masses together.

This man came up from Ketchikan, he says, with orders to "take over" the Alaska Labor Union No. 4 and there were enough jelly fish in that body to let him do it. The first time we ever heard of him Bob Kennedy was circulating a paper to raise money for his bond as he was arrested during the summer at Wrangell on a charge and is under bond now pending trial.

This curly headed god of the new freedom has for his side kicker our esteemed townsman, Meyer, of the Tide flats, whose reputation for being in jail precludes him from being a regular wage earner. Yet he stands up and assumes authority as if he knew how; and such brilliant lights as Jack Benson, another kinky haired gink of freedom, hobnobs and acts with those two gentlemen who are either on their way out of or going to jail.

Under the leadership of these three guys The Gleam, a paper owned by a middle-aged woman, and her only means of support, was placed on the "unfair list."

This action followed the expulsion from the Union of the Editor of The Gleam, who is called by that bunch of intellectuals, "a capitalist." When the curly headed god first came to Juneau he said that it was all right for the editor to stay in the organization as long as she did not hire help, but when this wild-minded youth did not succeed in educating the editor to certain wild emanations of a diseased brain which the Marcel waved god of freedom calls "take over" then it was all off. The Editor must be put out of business.

Now The Gleam has no grudge against Jack Benson if he takes our advice and goes home to the care of his wife and baby, but the next time that curly-headed noodle interferes with The Gleam he'll have all that's coming to him. This fellow is only spared because of his wife and child and it will prove to his benefit if he goes way back and sits down.

But it's Myers and Sawyer with whom we are dealing. Why do not these two able-bodied men go to work? Sawyer is a great big husky animal who should be earning an honest living in a logging camp rather than working on a few weak-pated fellows who think they think.

Where was Sawyer during the war? It cannot be possible that he loved freedom so that he became a slacker and wished the majority of the world to perish from the earth.

Come along now, Sawyer, and tell where you were during the war. Perhaps you are a Canadian. If you are what in the Sam Hill are you doing in the United States raising trouble with Canada's friends?

We have too many uncertified citizens around here who take a good many liberties with the rights of American citizens and until the papers of each one of them are secured, they should at least behave themselves.

Now about Myers; a man who speaks with a foreign tongue and has languished in an American jail should certainly keep back in the tall grass, and The Gleam serves notice on them now that any attempt to obstruct the progress of the middle-aged woman editor who conducts the little paper will be considered an act of hostility and will be treated through the measures provided by law for such purposes. Any paper in Alaska publishing the notice that Sawyer is purported to have submitted for publication will be prosecuted under the provision governing libel.

The Editor has never been unfair to labor; the better part of her life has been spent in assisting labor to a better and more dignified position than it occupied in the days of T. V. Powderly. For years she has written in defense of the present legitimate organization; refused to trade for the last 30 years in any store unless the house carried a label. She has been through street car strikes, and railroad strikes and knew Coxey's army and has busied herself for years with the great aggregation known as organized labor, but after the years of ripe experience and much study along economic lines she refused to fall for the mad ravings of a man under arrest, a man accused of making mischief; then publication is to be made that she is "unfair to Labor." The paper publishing this will have to prove it, and we need a plant and no doubt, after a thoroughly "tried out" case we could by law literally "take over" a plant.

What can a community think of a bunch of great big husky men spending an evening discussing the question of whether a middle-aged woman shall earn her living in her own way? That's a nice advertisement for your reform, isn't it? If that's a sample of how things are going to be after you get through with them we see readily how far you are going to travel.

We have no doubt though that any man would rather sit around and draw a salary from those who DO work than to take an honest job himself would do most anything to women whether they were old or young. The mother of the race evidently means nothing to him or to those who abetted him in the action taken at the meeting last Monday night.

LOOK See here! I live in Alaska. I pay this Territory school and municipal taxes, also have a territorial license. ## SHELLEY'S WORK IN DEMAND

Pamphlet Which Poet Wrote and Gave Away Now Eagerly Bid for by Collectors.

Three hundred and fifty pounds, or $1,750, is the price set in the catalogue of a famous London firm of dealers in rare books and manuscripts upon a copy of a pamphlet that was originally written to be given away.

This pamphlet is the poet Shelley's "Address to the Irish People," in which he advocated home rule and Catholic emancipation. As soon as it was printed he threw copies from the balcony of his lodgings in lower Sackville street, Dublin. He was then twenty-one—it was in 1812—and was in Dublin for the purpose of applying his youthful ideas of reforming the world.

As the poet himself wrote, "I stand at the balcony of our window and watch till I see a man who looks likely—I throw a book at him."

The copy of Shelley's address which is now to be sold is, of course, a very special one; it is, in fact, the one that he sent to his father, and contains the poet's autographed corrections. The pamphlet has several times fetched over $500, so collectors especially American ones, are not likely to haggle over the figure that is now set upon it.

A SPECIAL PRIVILEGE.

Say, Kid, tell
you wot I'll do:
You go git your Ma's biggest dish pan an' I'll let you sit on it an'
lissen to your fire cracker go off underneath!

FIGHT YELLOW FEVER.

Dr. George R. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller foundation, announced recently that with the cessation of hostilities in France the foundation was prepared to direct its activities, largely diverted into war channels, back into ways of peace. Its international health board would renew at once in cooperation with local authorities in South and Central America its combat against yellow fever.

Dr. William C. Gorgas, retired from the post of surgeon general on account of age, soon will sail to take charge of the foundation's fight against yellow fever. The position of director of yellow fever work, which General Gorgas now occupies, was his, Doctor Vincent says, until the war compelled him to relinquish it and the foundation to suspend its efforts.

GRAYSHUS—MY CHILD.

Out in Ashland avenue recently a child nurse was telling her shoe-clerk beau how she told the story of Moses to her curly-haired charges.
"And they placed his cradle in the bulrushes," she related.
"Grayshus, that was a dangerous place to hide him," volunteered the beau, "—dangerous, where the bull rushes."—Indianapolis News.

MUSIC BROUGHT JOY.

Yeast—It must have cost a lot of money to give your daughter her musical education.

Crimsonbeak—It certainly did.
"And has it paid you?"
"Indeed, yes. Why, when she sings I can't hear a word her mother says."—Yonkers Statesman.

CURED OF THE BLUES.

Bob Flush—Why so gloomy? Got the blues?
Jack Potts—That's the trouble; I ain't. I lost 'em all and the reds with 'em. All I got is a couple of measly white chips left.

AFTER LONG REPRESSION.

Heck—Have you any idea what you're talking about?
Peck—I don't believe I have. You see, my wife is away and I'm just sorter letting my tongue run loose, so to speak.—Boston Transcript.

SOMEWHAT THIN.

Diner—What do you call this stuff?
Waiter—Mock turtle soup, sir.
Diner—Well, tell the chef he has carried his mockery too far.—London Tit-Bits.

THEIR CLASS.

"I wonder what division of the army the baby tanks belonged to?"
"I should think they would put them in the infantry."

SCHOOL NOTES

Seventy children of the Wran-

Audobon Society on Thursday, September 18. Elton Engstrom was chosen president, and June

Their object is to learn all they can about the wild birds, and every one who becomes a member will be expected to be kind to the birds and protect them.

Three new pupils have been enrolled in the high school. They are: Violet Yiesley, Henry Ron-

Fred and George Gunderson shipment to the American Expeditionary Forces when the Armistice was signed and which have been turned over to the Treasury Department for use as savings banks to stimulate thrift. The only alteration made in the hand grenades to convert them into savings banks was the removal of the TNT charge and the cutting of a slot as a coin way.

It is planned to distribute the grenade banks to the public through banks and trust companies exclusively. The only conditions imposed by the Treasury Department are that to gain ownership of a

Persons 1 to 12 years of age

Persons 12 to 18 must purchase at least two $5 War Savings Stamps;

Persons over 18 years of age must buy either one $100 or one $1000 Treasury Savings Certificate which is the big brother to the War Savings Stamp bearing the
